SEATTLE (Wash.) Sept. 10.—The schooner Katie, which arrived in port this morning from Honolulu, brought a story of the sufferings and narrow escape of the crew of the schooner C. A. Close, which was sighted in mid-ocean. The schooner belonged to the Seattle Steamship company of San Francisco.

The crew consisted of Capt. F. G. O'Brien, a Dutch skipper and ten men, the wife of the captain, lived for weeks on sea gulls which they managed to shoot during the storm. The Close was driven out from San Pedro, Cal., and after a long and narrow escape, the schooner was blown off in the storm, and was sighted in latitude 40° 45' N. and longitude 124° 15' W. The crew's wants were supplied by the crew of the Taspico who also rescued them from their perilous position.

NEW REDUCTION WORKS.
LARGEST IN THE NORTHWEST.
(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

TACOMA, Sept. 10.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Tacoma Smelting Company, owned by D. O. Mills and associated with the large copper reduction works, the first plant of the kind in the Pacific Northwest. It is likewise the most modern copper reduction works in the country, power for its numerous processes being supplied by electricity and compressed air. The plant is located on the waterfront, adjacent to the company's 300-ton smelter. It will treat daily 300 tons of copper ores from Washington, Alaska and British Columbia, and its supply coming largely from mines owned by the Mills syndicate in Idaho and Alaska.

Electric cranes left the ore from the hold of vessels at the smelter docks and carry it to the receiving bins. After being crushed, the ore is mixed with coke to produce a matte of 40 per cent. copper, going thence to the smelter, where pyritic furnaces are used. By use of air blast, the sulphur and iron contained in the ore are burned and used as fuel.

UNLUCKY DESTROYER.
ACCIDENT TO GOLDBOROUGH.
(BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M. (BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SEATTLE (Wash.) Sept. 10.—The Times today says that failure has again overtaken the ill-fated destroyer Goldborough. Whether or not she will ever be fit again for service is a problem. The Goldborough has been patched and repaired so often that some marine experts express grave doubts as to her ever being made a seaworthy fighting machine.

Her last trip to disaster occurred Monday afternoon. In charge of the government experts from the Puget Sound navy yard, she slipped out into the sound, she nearly reached the required speed of 23 knots an hour. She maintained it for nearly an hour. She had passed the test. She had done all she was expected to do. The Goldborough made a mistake. Barely had this speed been attained when the port engine broke down, and became completely wrecked. One man was slightly injured.

SAVED FROM WRECK.
THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M. (BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

EUREKA, Sept. 10.—Seldom has a vessel had a closer call than did the three-masted barkentine Katie Flickinger, which drifted close in shore to the beach just behind the old consumers' mill property early last Monday in a fog. She laid there three days in five fathoms, without being sighted from shore or by passing craft, until her plight became known about 11 o'clock this morning to Capt. Peterson of the tug Ranger, who after working all day succeeded in rescuing the vessel late this afternoon, practically unharmed and without loss of life.

Most of the out-of-town visitors returned to their homes last night and early this morning.

FRUIT GOING TO WASTE.
NO WAY OF MARKETING IT.
THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M. (BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

MARTINEVILLE, Sept. 10.—So much cool weather this summer has caused grapes of all varieties to be slow in ripening. Consequently the season for shipping (table grapes and curing raisins) will be very short at best. Reports coming in from all over this section of California make it evident that the problem before the people is not raising, but the harvesting and marketing of the fruit. The pear crop is practically all on the ground in most localities, and the prune crop in Colusa and other counties will only be half saved. Millions of figs are reported to be rotting, and the peach crop is being left to rot in the orchards. Plums, too, are going to waste, and in some places the vineyard crops are being left to rot in the orchards. The fruit cannot be harvested. In some districts acres of melons have been left to lie on the ground.

The entire malting department, a seven-story building, was consumed. It is a total wreck. The fire burned fiercely all afternoon, necessitating the calling out of the entire San Jose fire department. No lives lost.

MARTINEVILLE, Sept. 10.—Dr. Frank Burleigh, a well-known physician of Brown's Valley, this county, is in jail here, charged with having stolen from the dead body of August Lubman, when he had been called to treat a gold watch. Alexander Lubman, a brother of the dead man, swore to the complaint. Burleigh indignantly denies the charge, and says the watch was given him by the deceased's mother.

Carbon County Formation Said to Be Similar to That Found in Pennsylvania.
BUTTE (Mont.) Sept. 10.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Clinton C. Clark has just returned from a trip to the Carbon county oil fields, where he made an extended examination of the field on behalf of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company. Asked his opinion on the Carbon county field, he said:

"The oil field lies on Butcher Creek, twenty miles west of Red Lodge, near the Bear Tooth mountains. The formation in that country consists of sand stone, alternating with layers of slate or shale, just the conditions that are found in the Pennsylvania oil region. This formation is uniform and regular until the mountains are reached, back of the oil springs; then comes a reef of limestone standing at an angle of perhaps 45 deg., cutting off the oil formation."

"This is conclusive to my mind that that terminates the oil, in so far as going south at that point is concerned, and that the productive oil field will be found north of this limestone reef on the flat or bench land."

"I was informed by a responsible people that many other oil springs or oil springs could be found for miles along the foot of the range. All conditions point to an extensive oil field when properly developed."

COFFEE BLOATING.
Coffee Causes Liver Congestion in Some People.

"We drank coffee some years and it seemed an established law in our household to take refuge with some medicine or physic to make the bowels move or relieve the stomach's pressure (coffee is generally the cause of persistent constipation as it produces more or less congestion of the liver)."

"I was so nervous that my hands trembled badly and sleep fled from me. I felt irritable all the time and unable to do much of any work. I had to force myself to do things; always felt lazy and had to drive myself to get around; the food I ate belched up and I always felt as if I were bloated, and had such a narrow waist that I could not get my arms and legs into my clothes; my chest, so that every little exertion started hot waves running through the whole body, followed by a cold, chilly sensation."

"But after I commenced to use Postum Food Coffee and quit coffee these complaints all disappeared. I feel well, energetic and hopeful; am better nourished and able to sleep well every night."

"My husband was often sick and the doctor and medicine were constantly used in our house, but since we stopped coffee and used Postum all these things are changed and that heavy feeling around the chest has gone."

"Every wife should introduce this wholesome beverage into her family. She would discover in a few days what a rich food she had prepared for her loved ones, and would be rid of all those oppressing sensations and stomach and bowel complaints which are caused by coffee drinking."

BOLD MOVE OF RUSSIA.

in Manchuria.

Orders Expulsion of Customs Employees.

Men Affected are British, but are in Employ of Chinese Government.

PEKING, Sept. 10.—(By Atlantic Cable.) The Russian minister here, has advised the Russian commander in Manchuria that the presence of foreigners in Manchuria during the military occupation is objectionable and he is directed to expel the British imperial customs employees who may be sent to Manchuria to resume charge of the postal service.

NO SIGNS OF WITHDRAWING.

PEKING, Sept. 10.—According to advice received here from Manchuria, the Russians are making no visible preparations to withdraw from the military occupation of the southern portion of the province of Shantung, as was stipulated should be done within six months of the signing of the treaty. Russian troops and immigrants are reported to be entering Manchuria in large numbers, but none are leaving the country.

RUSSIANS GO TO PEKING.

PEKING, Sept. 10.—Col. Kopp, director of Manchurian railroads; Gen. Bolokov, acting governor; and other Russian officials of Manchuria, have gone to Peking in connection with the negotiations for the withdrawal of the Russian troops from Manchuria, and the restoration of the Shan-Hai-Kwan Railway.

CHALLENGE TO ENGLAND.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—While Mr. Lester's notice of the intention of the Russian government to expel foreigners from Manchuria has not been formally brought to the attention of the State Department, it can be predicted safely that for the present, at least, our government will look upon this matter as one involving Russia, China and England, and as one in which it is not directly concerned.

So far as is known, there are no American interests in the case of China, and it should appear later that there are some American prospects in that country. It is not probable the decree would be enforced in their case, as while general in terms, the decree really is aimed at the British, and marks a determination on the part of Russia to retain the actual control of customs in Manchuria in her hands, while nominally recognizing Chinese sovereignty.

The British custom employees referred to are British by nationality, but are actually in employ of the Chinese government, and it may be that Russia will insist that the question raised by Mr. Lester's order concerns Russia, China and England. It is improbable, however, that the British government will take this view to the matter, and it is fully expected that the British government will call on the Chinese government to retain these British customs officials, despite the Russian order.

WATER MIXED WITH GAS.

Denver Resists Effort to Raise Lighting Rates and Wants Charter of Company Declined.

DENVER (Colo.) Sept. 10.—Quo warrant proceedings were begun in the District Court today by Dist. Atty. Lindsey against the Denver Gas and Electric Company, on the ground that the company was operating its business in violation of the charter of the city of Denver, which was granted by Judge Mullins, restraining Judge Bailey of Yonkers City and County from interfering in any way with the present rates of the company, which it has been proposed to raise by an action on petition in Judge Bailey's court.

The object of the suit is to have the proceedings before Judge Bailey set aside, where they may be heard and adjudicated.

The bill alleges that the company has watered the stock to such a point that, in order to pay even expenses, including interest and the like, it is forced to ask the Fremont District Court to allow an increase in the prices of gas and electric light.

Among the allegations is one that charges the company with fraud in issuing bonds for $5,000,000 and $7,000,000 in stocks and bonds, when the value of the plants is estimated at only $21,000,000.

The bill prays that a receiver be appointed by the court, and that, after the charter of the company has been declared void for non-performance of its charter duties to the city and people, the receiver should be directed to wind up the affairs of the corporation.

THE OX-HORN INDUSTRY.

Now a Trade Which Has Reached Large Proportions Had Its First Origin.

[New York Post.] A familiar sight in the business quarter of this city is the Russian horn peddler. The man himself is picturesque, having the strong features, dark skin, long beard and ill-fitting clothes which mark the Slav, while his wares are always noticeable for their oddity. Sometimes it is the haitrack, consisting of two ox horns, beautifully polished and fitted together at the butts upon a small wooden board, ready for hanging in a hallway. At other times the horns are three-legged stool, of which each leg is a great horn. Again it is a gun rack, where the horns are made of ivory, white, gray, brown and black. If you desire it, he will supply you with easy chairs, arm chairs and rockers, of which the entire frames are made of horns. Of similar construction are easels, music racks, picture frames, wall trophies and baby cribs.

The industry was started about fifteen years ago by some poor Russian Jews near the kosher slaughter-house. Before that time the horns were sold with the hocks to the glue makers and button manufacturers. They brought but a few cents and the horns were sold with no trouble in getting all the raw material they needed.

The manufacturers first prepared the horns by boiling and using alkalis. Afterward they found they could secure better results by treatment with cold alkaline solutions followed by antiseptics. After the horns have been cleaned they are scraped and polished until they gleam like burnished metal. A few are varnished, but the practice is not recommended by the trade.

WASHINGTON.

disposition to question the propriety of the issue of the decree, it being recognized as an essential preliminary step on the part of the Haytian government. If it actually intends to blockade the three ports named.

The exact attitude of this government is best shown in a famous letter written by Secretary Bajan in 1885 to Mr. Brecourt, the Colombian minister here, at a time when the Colombian government sought to close by decree some ports in the hands of the insurgents. Mr. Bajan laid down this doctrine, which since has governed the State Department:

"I am bound to conclude, as a general principle, that a decree by a sovereign power closing to neutral commerce ports held by its enemies, whether domestic or foreign, can have no international validity, and no extra-territorial effect in the direction of imposing any obligation upon the governments of neutral powers to recognize or contribute toward its enforcement by any domestic action on their part."

Such a decree may, indeed, be necessary as the municipal enactment of the State which proclaims it, in order to clothe the executive with authority to proceed with the institution of a formal and effective blockade, but when that purpose is attained, its power is exhausted.

TONS OF STAMPED PAPER.

BUILDING NEEDED FOR IT.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Commissioner Yerkes of the Internal Revenue Bureau has been compelled to rent an outside building in which to receive and store checks and drafts bearing imprinted stamps now being sent in for redemption.

The original act providing for the redemption of these imprinted stamps limited the time within which they could be presented for redemption to two years from the time they were purchased from the government. Subsequently that time was extended to January 1, 1934. Almost immediately after the act was passed, banks and large business houses began sending in their surplus stamps. So far 134 tons have been destroyed or returned to the senders after cancellation, and there are now about sixty tons on hand with the receipts almost equaling the cancellations.

NATIONAL BANK CIRCULATION.

LARGER THAN EVER BEFORE.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—The total national bank circulation outstanding at the present time exceeds that of any period in the history of the national banking system. At the close of business yesterday the circulation outstanding was $22,889,000,000, the highest point reached at any previous time was in October, 1932, when the total circulation outstanding was $22,889,000,000.

In 1932 and in the previous year, a large number of national banks were organized, and the charters of many others were extended. This and the further fact that owing to the low price of bonds there was a great increase in circulation than formerly is said to account for the very large amount of national bank notes outstanding in that year.

NEW YORK'S ASSIGNMENT.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—It was announced at the Navy Department today that Rear-Admiral Frederick Rogers will turn over the command of the Asiatic station to Rear-Admiral Robley D. Evans at Yokohama, Japan, about October 15, and that Admiral Rogers will be assigned to the command of the United States Asiatic Squadron, the New York, coming across the Pacific to San Francisco, instead of through the Suez Canal. Upon his arrival in this country, it is expected that he will be attached to the North Pacific Squadron, and Rear-Admiral Rogers will assume command of the New York Navy Yard.

A permanent assignment of the New York to the Pacific station will keep her from participating in the joint maneuvers of the North Atlantic, South Atlantic and European squadrons in the Caribbean Sea next winter.

The New York will bring to the United States a number of officers who are to be relieved of their duties on the Asiatic station.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Commander Henry M'Cree, whose handling of affairs at Boca del Toro and in Hayti, brought forth warm praises, has arrived in Washington, and the Secretary of State today, giving the Secretary the benefit of his close personal observation of the state of affairs in that country.

Commander M'Cree expressed the opinion that the destruction of the Crete-A-Pierrot simplified the situation considerably as it reduced further operations to an entirely military basis, neither of the contending parties now having any navy representation. While the situation was problematical, Commander M'Cree thought the situation favorable to the Firminist movement.

The commander expressed serious doubt as to the accuracy of the statement that Admiral Kilkirk went down with his ship.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M. FRANKFORT-ON-THHE-ODER (Germany) Sept. 10.—(By Atlantic Cable.) Emperor William's guests were a rather haggard lot this morning. Francis Albert, as the Emperor's representative, entertained all of them at dinner last evening, and it was toward 12 when the party broke up. At 3 a.m., or a quarter past, they had themselves called, the Emperor had directed that the battle begin at 7 o'clock. The field of maneuvers is situated quite a distance by rail from Frankfort-on-the-Oder, and the princes and generals had to assemble at the railroad station at 4:30 a.m. to catch the special train. Even then the Emperor was a-bed before they started.

Tons of gunpowder were burned today. Sixty thousand shells and 200 pieces of artillery were in action. The reports near and distant of the many thousands of rifles were broken at intervals by the tearing, rip-saw effect of the firing of the machine guns.

Emperor William, Maj.-Gen. Corbin, Maj.-Gen. von Helldorf, Maj.-Gen. Lord Roberts, Gen. French and the other visitors and the numerous staff, in all 100 persons, looked on from the hilltop midway between a portion of the hostile lines.

The scene of the whole, especially of the seemingly limitless number of troops, satisfied the observers.

The Red army pushed through the Blue center after three hours' fighting, and the empires ordered a suspension of the engagement.

During the night of September 9 and 10, the Emperor and his staff, Lord Roberts and Gen. Young and Wood talked most of the time together.

Emperor William will occupy a wooden pavilion especially constructed for him.

FUNERAL OF GREAT SCIENTIST.

BERLIN, Sept. 10.—(By Atlantic Cable.) The city of Berlin gave the remains of Prof. Vircow a funeral worthy of the great scientist. The Town Hall was profusely decorated with laurels, palms and flowers, and the assembly room of the magistracy where the funeral was held was lavishly decorated. In the adjoining lobby was a display of magnificent wreaths sent by the medical, political and scientific societies. There were many floral memorials from all parts of Germany and from some foreign cities.

Among the very prominent wreaths near the catafalque was an exquisite one of master lilies and "Maidenhair ferns" from the American physician, practicing and studying in Berlin, with an inscription expressing the high esteem in which he was held by the medical profession for the world-renowned pathologist, Rudolph Vircow.

The assembly room was crowded with scientists and physicians of the capital and with the highest medical officers of the German army.

The pastor made a short address of general eulogy for the late scientist and Prof. Vircow, Justice Albert Thomsen, a member of the Reichstag, and Chief Burgomaster Kirchner extolled Vircow's virtues.

Interment occurred in St. Matthew's Cemetery at Schoenberg, a suburb of Berlin.

Everywhere the luscious edibles are in evidence, but perhaps the preponderating consumption is in Germany, where two important impulses are of influence in keeping up the demand for preserved fruit. The first is the fact that Germany has better times than since 1896 have been realized in Germany—though recently off—but which started an era of money matters for the German working people, enabling them to gratify the natural taste for fruit. Secondly, the fact that recently acquired knowledge that fruit eating at breakfast is of great dietetic advantage.

Many of the leading German physicians now prescribe fruit for breakfast, and the knowledge that the table of the Emperor and Empress, as well as that of their children, is always furnished with fruit for the first course at the morning meal, has rendered the practice almost universal.

This has created an enormous demand, and it may be said that there is hardly any reasonable limit to the demand. The second impulse is the fact that Germany may not in time be developed by American fruit exporters, provided it is to be built up as a nation of fruit eaters. # OFF FOR THE CONVENTION.

Congressional Contest at Oxnard Today.

Scippers are Said to Be Back of Daniels.

Registration for General Election Closes Within Two Weeks.

Numerous delegates to the Eighth District Congress Convention left for Oxnard yesterday afternoon and the remainder will go north this morning. Senator Nutt and some of the San Diego delegates remained in Los Angeles last night and will leave at 8:50 o'clock this morning for the convention. It was the general opinion in Los Angeles yesterday that the fight would be between Nutt, Daniels and Smith. Both of Santa Barbara being practically out of the race. No one was able to forecast with certainty what change may be shown in the standing of the candidates on the first ballot this afternoon, each candidate for the nomination claiming gains, but it was predicted that Daniels of Oxnard would suffer from his connection with the "scipper" push.

Daniels' fight is being made by his son-in-law, Tom Hayes of Riverside, whose affiliations with the scippers are well known. Daniels cannot hope for any support from the mineral men, who so long have had to fight the aggressions of the scippers, and the delegates who have the interests of the mining and oil industries at heart will question the relations that exist between one of their chief and most persistent antagonists and the Riverside candidate for the Congressional nomination.

DELEGATES ON OXNARD.
SITUATION AT OXNARD.
(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
OXNARD, Sept. 10.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Republican convention of the Eighth Congress District will assemble in Oxnard tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, and the present indications are that every one of the 104 delegates will be represented. Tonight's train from the south brought more than fifty, and tomorrow morning the rest will arrive. The candidates have not yet put in an appearance, and in their absence there is but little gossip on the situation. It is concluded that the fight is between State Senators Nutt of San Diego and Smith of Kern and Capt. Daniels of Riverside. Both of Santa Barbara will withdraw, or has already done so, but what disposition will be made of his votes is by no means certain, and all of the other delegates are claiming them. The Daniels supporters are loudest in their assertions of certain success. They are saying that the fight will be settled on the first ballot tomorrow, and that Daniels will win. They are giving out no figures, however, other than to say that Daniels will receive 50 votes, 55 being necessary to a choice.

The Daniels claims are vigorously denied by Senator Nutt's supporters. It is undoubtedly true that Nutt has made some inroads on Daniels' strength in fringe country, but whether he has lost elsewhere remains to be seen. Smith is still in the fight, but he is not letting his supporters talk much, preferring to wait until the balloting begins.

The race tonight looks like Daniels against the field, with Nutt a strong second choice. In the event that the convention fails to nominate within a reasonable number of ballots a resolution will be introduced requesting the State Executive Committee to name a candidate. The people of Oxnard are prepared to show the delegates every courtesy. A committee of citizens has completed arrangements for their accommodation, and will see to it that they want for nothing that the town can furnish. The sessions of the convention will be held in the Masonic Temple.

REGISTRATION'S END.
ONLY TWO WEEKS DISTANT.
Only two weeks remain in which to register for the State and county election of November 4.

The registration books will close on the 24th inst., and all who have not registered since the first of the present year will be denied a vote.

It had been expected by M. J. Magraw, the county officer in charge of registration, that this year's total would reach 50,000, but this estimate, according to present progress, is considered excessive, and the total may not reach much more than 45,000.

The apathy of voters is attributed to ignorance of the fact that an entire new registration must be made. Those who voted at the primaries on the former registration apparently think it unnecessary to register for the general election, but this error will cost them their votes.

"No one can vote at the general election of November 4," said Mr. Magraw yesterday, "unless he has placed his name on the Great Register since January 1 of this year. This is absolute and there is no way to get around the law, which is very plain. An exception was made at the primaries, and those who had failed to register this year were permitted to vote. But everyone must register now if he has not already done so this year. Those who have moved from one precinct to another since registration also are required to re-register before October 9, the latest date at which names will be entered of those who desire to vote at the general election."

Registration for the city election, December 1, may be made as late as November 6.

The total registration to date is between 41,000 and 42,000. City officers are slower than those in the country, but it is expected that a quickening will be noticeable as the closing date approaches. At any rate it is believed the total will reach 45,000, the total for the Presidential election two years ago.

CONSIDERING HER TROUSSEAU.

No Proposal Had Been Made, but the Girl Knew the Symptoms—The Crowning Evidence.
[LONDON TIT-BITS.] They happened to meet in a shop the other day, and they had a conversation which sent one of them away with a flood of light illuminating her soul. She was one of those girls who are adored by old ladies, and constantly invited to tea by them to meet bachelor sons, and who count all the beaux they ever had on the fingers of one hand. The other—well, she was different. She was one of those mad, mad creatures who are always mysteriously supplied with roses and bonbons and escorted to the theater by some young man who is meditating over some silks when the other one greeted her.

"I suppose you are trying to decide between the old rose and the pale green?" she said.

"Well, no," replied the other girl, frankly. "You see, I am getting my wedding things, and I think I'll have both." Then she gazed down to him, and looked up to see the effect of her "Is it possible?"

"Yes, dear, and you can't imagine how I should like to have you."

"I only hope you—"

"Will be happy? Of course I shall. Why I can always make him do just what I choose. The man I marry must be one that I can obey."

"Not at all, my dear. It is all very easy to talk, but I can assure you, like I and it sounds pretty, besides doing no harm, until you are really going to marry one of them, when you want your own way, just like any other sensible woman."

"Well, do tell me how he—"

"Proposed? Oh, but he hasn't done it yet."

"But I thought that you—"

"Were selecting a touseau? So I am, goosie. You see, it is just this evening. He will call at 8 this evening, and buy at least we will be formally engaged."

"But how do you know?" helplessly asked the other girl.

"Simply by precedent. When a man asks you in an anxious tone if you think a married man ought to give up his club you may know that his intentions are serious, and when he follows it up a few days later by asking you if you don't think a good husband has a right to smoke all over his own house, it is high time to decide when the wedding shall be."

"My goodness!"

"Yes, but that wasn't what convinced me."

"Oh, do tell me about it!"

"No, it was simply this: I met him in the street yesterday, and he was reading a paper so intently that he didn't even see me until I spoke. Then he blushed violently, and in great confusion thrust his paper into his overcoat pocket. Well, he is the one I like—and now, you must never tell this as long as you live!"

"Never, never will."

"Well, I was so curious to see what he had been reading that I followed him and took an excuse to slip into the hall where his coat was hanging, and I took the paper out of his pocket, and what do you think it was?"

"Oh, I can't imagine."

"It was a household paper, and the article that he had been reading was one which proved conclusively that two persons could live a good deal more cheaply than one. Now do you see why I am commencing to select my touseau?" she asked.

"Yes, I do," meekly replied the other girl.

Catarrah of the Bladder.

Is a very common disease in both sexes; causes frequent urination, by which in time you lose control and ability to retain. Causes irritation at the neck of the bladder; causes mucus in the urine resembling brick dust or thick, whitish deposits. Old chronic irritation and frequent inflammation of the bladder are apt to result in chronic irritation and thickening of the mucous membrane of the bladder, urethra, and prostate glands. There is a frequent desire to urinate, the fluid is forcibly or spasmodically ejected in small quantities, and the passage is attended with aching, burning or spasmodic pain. All of which can be removed by taking S. B. Catarrh Cure, which removes the cause of inflammation or irritation by acting directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the entire system. It is a positive acid solvent. For sale by all druggists. Book on catarrh free. Address Smith Bros., Fresno, Cal.

Mass Meeting Passes Warm Resolutions and Names Committee to Interview Holders of Franchise and Supervisors—May Appeal to Courts.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.) SANTA PAULA, Sept. 9.—Pursuant to a call for a mass meeting made some ten days ago, a goodly crowd assembled at Halcorn Hall last Saturday afternoon, to devise ways and means for preventing the Bakerfield and Ventura Electric Railway Company from laying its tracks in the center of the public highways, instead of on the side of the thoroughfares.

The meeting was called to order by C. C. Teague, who nominated M. D. L. Todd for chairman, which action was made unanimous. T. L. Vance was elected secretary. A committee composed of C. C. Teague, J. M. Sharpe and T. L. Vance, reported the following resolutions, which were enthusiastically adopted:

"Whereas, the Board of Supervisors of Ventura county did, upon the 20th day of March, 1901, grant unto H. M. Russell and J. W. Burson a franchise for the period of fifty years, permitting said parties to construct and maintain an electric railroad in the center of the public highway extending from Ventura, through Santa Paula to Sope Hot Springs; and whereas, said public highway has been constructed and brought to its present state of completeness by many years of labor and expense; and whereas, the construction and operation of a railroad in the middle of the public highway must seriously interfere with the right and convenience of the public, endangering life, limb and property; and whereas, if the middle of said public highway is used for the construction of said railroad, it will compel the taxpayers to construct and maintain for the use of the public, two new grades of roadbed at an enormous expense to the taxpayers; therefore,

"Resolved, by the citizens and taxpayers of Ventura county, in mass meeting assembled, that we do most emphatically condemn the action of the Board of Supervisors in granting said franchise for the construction and operation of a street railway in the middle of the public highway, and request them to correct this most grievous mistake at the earliest date possible; and be it further

"Resolved, that we hereby pledge our moral and financial support in the defense of our rights.

"Whereas, it is one of the legal obligations of the Board of Supervisors to maintain the public highways of the county in suitable condition for public use; and whereas, the granting of money that may be raised by taxation for road purposes is limited by law; therefore, be it

"Resolved, that we believe that it would be impossible for the Supervisors (limited by law as to the amount of taxes they may levy for road purposes) to construct the necessary grades and maintain the public highway in a suitable condition for travel, until the railroad is constructed in the middle thereof; and be it further

"Resolved, that an Executive Committee of taxpayers be appointed, whose duty it shall be to investigate the legal grounds for opposing the construction of a street railway in the middle of the public highway, to devise means for raising by subscription or otherwise, necessary funds for carrying on a legal contest, if such should be necessary; and to enter into such legal proceedings as in their judgment may be necessary."

M. D. L. Todd was elected to act as chairman of the Executive Committee. The other members being as follows: H. W. Dudley and George Jones, Ventura; J. M. Sharpe and D. P. Sheldon, Santa Paula; W. Blanchard, L. R. Horne, John Cummings, G. W. Faulkner, C. C. Teague and H. C. Henderson, Santa Paula; W. H. Martin, Sope. It was voted that the Executive Committee should first interview H. M. Russell, J. W. Burson and the members of the Board of Supervisors, to the end that an agreement might be entered into permitting the construction of said railway along the side of the public road, instead of in the middle. If this fails, the people propose to go ahead into court, if necessary, to enforce their claims, providing sufficient grounds for a legal contest can be sustained.

STORY OF A MARCH.

Macagnani and His Negotiations Concerning the Composing of a Dewey Memorial March.

(STAFF CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.) LONDON, Aug. 27.—Did the maestro bungle the truth or did he not? It is a question which the readers of the following little story must answer for themselves.

It will be remembered by all that when Maestro Macagnani went to Spain, by special request, for the coronation of Alfonso XIII, instead of being received with open arms, embraces, and even kisses—in which way southern exuberance is apt to express itself—he was left severely alone, and when he became restive under the treatment, it was intimated that he had no use for him, and that he had better go home.

Refusing to be treated like a naughty boy, it was at last magnificently thrown in his teeth that he had written a triumphal march to Admiral Dewey, after the Hispano-American War.

"Lies!" ejaculated Macagnani. "All malicious calumnies. Can you think it possible I would glorify an admiral at the expense of a sister Latin nation? I wrote no such march; far from me be such a thought!"

Love and good will followed; the embraces and kisses being rendered more fervent from the delay.

After the taking of Manila the agent of an American paper went to Italy to ask the maestro to write a triumphal march to the successful admiral, to be used and published on his entrance into New York. Macagnani, all smiles, expressed great satisfaction, and promised to have his manuscript ready for the press in a few days.

Time passed and grew very short, and still the agent, who had left Italy, heard nothing. He began to get impatient at the prolonged silence, so proceeded to Pesaro-Macagnani's residence, to find the little town full of American newspapers, representatives, and the maestro invisible. These two facts taken in conjunction seemed to him very suspicious. It was when he whispered in his ear that the former were trying to cut him out, and as he had no contract with Macagnani, merely his word, and the price had not even been established. He determined to take the composer's house by assault and called on him. He was met by a maid, who informed him that the maestro was in his bath, in the throes of inspiration, another time at lunch, another other sleeping, until it was learned that he had left for San Marino, to conduct a concert.

Now seriously preoccupied, as the time was too short to turn elsewhere, our agent pursued the fleeing composer and after various difficulties unseathed him in the midst of the triumph which followed his concert.

"Well," said Macagnani, "when at last cornered, 'I have had various other offers from American papers. If your journal will give me $10,000, it is yours.'"

"But," protested the indignant and worn-out agent, "when we spoke before more than $3000 was not mentioned. Your price is prohibitive, and I may as well tell you that I consider you have acted on anything but the square."

After some heated discussion it was arranged to sign the contract for a lesser sum later in the day. The hour arrived, but Macagnani was again bathing, or composing or sleeping, at which the agent packed his belongings, bottled his wrath, and left for London.

"Vengeance is mine," he said, "wait till he comes to America; I will write him up with his bath, German government, and long-haired boys!"

Meanwhile, Macagnani, over whom a chill doubt had begun to creep at the unexpected spirit displayed by the agent, returned to Pesaro and hunked down to wait for the offers from other papers to bear fruit. One would give $500, another a hundred or two more, and even went to $1000. Macagnani, furious, refused and refused, hoping always for something better, until he woke one morning to find the competitors all gone, and his march still in his own possession.

Pesaro returned to his accustomed calm, but on the day Dewey entered New York to the strains of martial music—alas, not his—Macagnani took a solemn oath; "The States will have to swallow it all the same," and the Dewey march is now a hymn to America for the opening of the St. Louis Exhibition.

Did the maestro bungle the truth or did he not?

PLAYA DEL REY

THE KINGS BEACH

Send for half-tone engraving
panorama view of Del Rey
Beach. Free to those who write.

More lots are being sold at Del Rey right now than at any time since the opening sale, and we venture the prediction that many of the people who have bought lots within the last 30 days will double their money inside of 18 months.

No claim has been made for this resort which cannot and will not be substantiated. Thousands of dollars carefully and wisely expended will advance the price of lots over present values many times over.

The price of lots, everything considered, is much lower than present conditions would warrant, to say nothing of the enormous prospective values. The aim of the company is to make prices so notably low this season that when the season opens next year Del Rey will be the only beach in the public mind.

Playa del Rey will have the finest and quickest transportation from Los Angeles, the finest bathing, the finest boating, the finest hotel, the finest streets, the finest drives, the finest homes to be found in any resort city on the Pacific Coast.

THE BEACH LAND COMPANY, Conservative Life Building, Third and Hill Streets, Los Angeles.

Fourteen years ago one little dummy line running to Santa Monica carried all the people from Los Angeles who desired to visit the coast. Acres along the beach could then be had for what single lots sell for today. The question is, and it's up to you for answer, what will lots be worth fourteen years hence in the most desirable beautiful spot on the entire Southern California coast line? Playa del Rey is sure to make every investor a satisfactory return because of the natural growth in the demand for gift edge seaside property, only you can, in this case, reckon by MONTHS instead of years.

EVENTS IN SOCIETY.

The wedding of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Hill, who were married September 7, 1902, at Oswego, Ill., was celebrated in this city yesterday. The couple are now residing at No. 825 Ocean street, where they gave a formal reception to about fifty relatives.

short meter doxology was sung to the tune of Dune street. Refreshments were served, and the party was displayed, after which informal congratulations were in order. Mr. and Mrs. Hill are the parents of six children, two sons and four daughters, the eldest son, L. R. Hill, died in Lincoln, Neb., while attending the State University, in his twenty-first year. The second child, Carrie E. Hill, lives in Denver, Colo.; the third, Hattie E. Hill, is the wife of Rev. J. C. Elliott of Los Angeles; the fourth, Will L. Hill, is a civil engineer in Fresno; the fifth, Emma N. Delbert, is the wife of H. J. Delbert of the Southern Pacific company, and the youngest, Grace E. Turner, is a widow, in the postoffice in Fresno as register clerk. The aged couple have seven grandchildren. Mr. Hill has been prominent in the real estate business, having made one addition to the city of Joliet, Ill., three additions to the city of Lincoln, Neb., and one addition to the city of Fresno. He spent nearly four years as a soldier in the Twentieth Illinois Infantry and over three years in the Fourth Illinois Cavalry. He was on the non-commissioned staff of Gen. W. H. L. Wallace when he was killed during the battle of Shiloh, and afterward was with Gen. U. S. Grant at Vicksburg, until he went East to take charge of the army of the Potomac, when Mr. Hill was sent North as a recruiting officer. After his discharge and his return to Joliet, Ill., he went back in the quartermaster's department to Chattanooga, Tenn.

Miss Leah L. Darcy and Prof. F. T. Adams were married last evening at No. 230 South Olive street, Rev. C. C. Pierce of Memorial Baptist Church officiating. Miss Darcy was a teacher in the Los Angeles public schools last year, and Prof. Adams is president of the University of Arizona. The ceremony took place at 8:30 o'clock, the bride standing under a three-cornered canopy of ribbons of white satin and smiling, that extended from the corner of the room to the chandelier, a profusion of rare roses further decorating the room, which was separated from the back parlor only by a grille work and pillars, and here were masses of flaming candelabras in such profusion that the unusual decoration was almost as much a feature of the occasion as the bride's dress. This was white crepe de chine over white tulle, quite simply made with demi-traine, and trimmed with chiffon applique. Bride's roses were carried. Miss Ethel Fraser of Ocean Park, who attended her cousin as bridesmaid, wore white mousseline de sole over pink tulle, and carried pink roses. Prof. Smith, a member of the faculty of the university, stood with the groom. The familiar strains of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" were played by Miss Lulu Mitchell to announce the entrance of the bride. There were about forty immediate friends present, for whom Reynolds served an elaborate supper after the ceremony. President and Mrs. Adams will leave this morning for Tucson, where, after September 25, they will be at home to friends at the president's house, Campus.

Rowe-McConnell. The marriage of Miss Ella Bothwell McConnell, daughter of the late Will J. McConnell, temperance orator from Cleveland, and Justin Bishop Rowe, both of this city, took place yesterday afternoon at the Prescott, No. 425 Temple street, the ceremony being performed at 3 o'clock by Rev. E. J. Inwood of Boyle Heights Methodist Episcopal Church. The bride wore a handsome traveling costume of pale green broadcloth, made over Royal blue silk, and carried white carnations, a hand-some toque trimmed with feathers completing the toilette. Mr. and Mrs. Rowe left on the 3:30 o'clock train for San Francisco, and after two months spent in Boston, Pittsburgh, Washington, D. C., and other eastern cities, they will return to Los Angeles to reside, where Mr. Rowe is engaged in the jewelry business on Spring street. They will be at home to their friends after November 10, at the Prescott. There were only a few intimate friends present, among them being Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Rowe, son of the groom and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Atterbury, Mr. and Mrs. Morris of Pomona, Mrs. McConnell, mother of the bride; Mrs. Belle Bothwell of Pittsburgh, aunt of the bride; Mrs. Samuel Pickett, San Jose; Miss Reeb of Columbus, O., and James Bothwell.

came the bride of Earl Pleasant Nittinger of Santa Monica yesterday, the ceremony taking place at the home of the bride, who resides with her grandparents at No. 716 South Hill street. Both young people have been prominent in the First Methodist Episcopal Church, where the bride is a member of the J.O.C. class, and the groom one of "We Boys," and their marriage was solemnized by the pastor, Rev. Dr. R. R. Cantline. Wakelin Nittinger stood with his brother. There were about thirty-five close friends present at the ceremony, which took place at noon in the north drawing-room under a wedding bell of white carnations. Miss Florence Kniffin rendered the "Lohengrin" "Bridal Chorus" as the young people entered. The bride, who was given away by her grandfather, was attired in a cream crepe de chine, over silk, both being cut quite long, and embroidered chiffon was used for trimming. The bride's bouquet was a shower of white carnations. Reynolds served a wedding breakfast, after which Mr. and Mrs. Nittinger took the train for Coronado, where they will spend their honeymoon. The bride's going-away gown was tailor-made and of green broadcloth, the jacket having a vest of white moire. With this was worn a waist of old-rose silk and white felt hat, trimmed with white wings. The young people will reside in Santa Monica, and will receive their friends after October 1.

nado for a ten days' trip, after which they will reside at the hospital for awhile.

Bixby of Phoenix, Ariz.; Mrs. Turner's house guest, Mrs. Lucia Burnett, sister of the hostess; Miss Crellin and Miss Ethel Crellin of San Francisco, and Miss Anna Fay, who is entertaining them; Miss Ella Clark, Miss Lou Winder, Miss Joseph Bonnell and Miss Elizabeth Shankland.

Hotel Dinner.

A party of congenial people were entertained at dinner last night at the Van Nuys, the host being Roger B. Friend of Oakland, Mr. Friend, who is in Los Angeles for a short stay, was a member of an enjoyable house party given by Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Fay, Jr., at Balboa Club last week, and he invited the same people to gather last evening in a jolly reunion around "the bachelor table." The aforesaid table was decorated with a basket of La France roses, and for a centerpiece, from which long rose sprays and lengths of smilax reached to the ends of the table in fragrance and beauty. The original place cards were inscribed with references to Bolina Chica days, whose significance was unattested only by host and guests. Those at table were Mr. and Mrs. William Haskell Schweppes, Miss Burke, Miss Crellin, Miss Ethel Crellin, Miss Fay, Miss Graves, Messrs. Leeds, Will Nevin, Warren Carhart and Dr. A. J. Murieta.

Dinner in Japan.

Lund, Misses Hallie and Pauline Lund, Master Le Valley Lund and Miss Webster of Berlin, Ct. The hostesses were charming in their Japanese costumes and the dining-room and table were gracefully decorated with artful Japanese umbrellas and lanterns. Place cards ornamented with pretty Gaiasha girls helped to complete the oriental effect. The dinner was favored with a dainty souvenir from the Flowery Kingdom, which was sought out by following the nature of a farewell to vacationing maid.

A Jolly Game.

Mrs. Mito M. Potter entertained for her daughter, Miss Nina Jones, Tuesday evening in their private parlors at the Van Nuys, the occasion being of the nature of a farewell to vacation days, as Miss Nina will leave the first of next week for Santa Barbara to enter school. The young people who enjoyed Mrs. Potter's hospitality are the Misses Frederika Schwatka, Kate Van Nuys, Mary Hubbell, Ida Hassom, Marjorie Leverance, Bertha Heratz, Messrs. Oliver Posey, Albert Bonnell, James Page, James Hobbs, Benton Van Nuys, Darby Hook, and Edmund Ames. Mr. and Mrs. Potter's plans for the

BOY AND GIRL DISCUSSED.

Mrs. Charlton Edholm and Mrs. Mary Tests Present Timely Topics at W. C. T. U. Federation.

After a vacation of two months, the Los Angeles Federation of Women's Christian Temperance Unions, reopened the work in Temperance Temple yesterday, with an all-day meeting. The attendance was much larger than usual, and the interest was very deep in all the sessions. Mrs. Emma Cash, president of the Southern California State organization, was present, and spoke earnestly of the work. Mrs. Cash is just on the eve of her departure for Portland, Me., where she will attend the national convention next month. Mrs. Noll, State superintendent, was also in attendance, and presented to the federation copies of the new Loyola Temperance Lessons song.

The feature of the day was the address of Mrs. Charlton Edholm on the subject of "White Slavery." Mrs. Edholm asserted that many girls were led into lives of shame through mock marriage, and that she never knew a betrayer of woman who was a total abstainer from tobacco and liquor. She said that few, if any, houses of ill-fame are found in prohibition towns, and that during the past year over one hundred girls had been rescued and sheltered in the Edholm Home in Oakland. She asked for a collection for the Hansome Home in this city, and met a response of $15.25. Mrs. Mary Tests addressed the meeting on "What Shall We Do With the Boy?" Teach him to live a pure life, was her theory. She said men had higher ideals than women, for they would not seek impure women for wives. In Ireland, she said, the women demand pure lives of the men they marry. Educate the boys so there will be no demand for houses of ill-fame; Iceland has prohibition and woman suffrage.

A CEREAL STORY.

John Jones was attacked by the cereal food. Would eat only cereal food. No sustenance save but the grains of the field. To nourish the body was good; He thought he'd discovered the secret of life. In barley and oats, wheat and corn, And said he would live and have plenty of health. Till Gabriel tooted his horn. All meats were but fit for the dogs and the cats. 'Twas full of vile "animalcules." And men who would eat the microbe-swarming stuff. Were simply condemnable fools; And though he was given the laugh of the horse. He said, as he stuck to his whim. That he who laughed last never failed to laugh best. And the last laugh was coming to him.

At breakfast he revelled in cereal mush, Well tempered with sugar and cream. And nicely browned pancakes of wheat or of corn.

He thought there was a cereal dream. He drank a decoction of cereal stuff. At the opening meal of the day. And swore that no mocha or java on earth.

Bore such a delicious bouquet. No matter what now-fangled product was sprung. From the cereal shops of the land. John Jones was the first to afford it a crack.

A result of his cereal feed. That nothing but stories in serial form Would the cereal idiot read.

At last he was downed by a cereal ill. Lay tossing with pain on his bed. The doctor declaring his once healthy brain.

Had turned to bran mash in his head. And medical skill failed to fetch him around. And with glimmer of hope in his eye He passed from the earth feebly singing. He would find in the sweat by and by.

They laid him to rest and the minister spoke. Of the reaper relentless and grim. Who, gathering in the ripe sheaves of the earth. Had flashed the keen sickle on him.

And just as a delicate tribute to John— And nearer one was never seen— They saved his last resting place over with oats. That his grave might be ever kept green.

ANIMAL TRAP CHAINS LIFE OF LITTLE BOY.

SHOCKING TRAGEDY IN THE WILDS NEAR FISH SPRINGS.

Alonso Carrick Falls on Hidden Gun and is Shot Through Chest—Mabbe Seizes Judgment Against Stewart in Third Irrigation Trial.

SAN BERNARDINO, Sept. 10.—Hidden in the haunts of wild animals and set to discharge automatically, the trap of some unknown hunter claimed a human life last Monday. The shocking tragedy occurred near a small place called Fish Springs, just over the boundary line in Inyo county, and the details were brought to this city by incoming prospectors late this afternoon.

The victim of the accident was an eleven-year-old boy named Alonso Carrick, who is well known here in Riverside and China. The Carrick family formerly resided at China and went to Fish Springs only a few weeks ago. Early on Monday, Alonso and his little sister and a companion set out for a tramp over the hills to visit their father who had set traps for ground squirrels. The day was spent joyously, and on the homeward trip late in the afternoon the killing occurred.

Little Alonso spied the muzzle of a gun protruding from the bushes near his path, and ran toward it to investigate. He seized it by the barrel in spite of the warnings shouted by his companions and tried to pull it out of the brush. Immediately there was a loud report, and the little fellow fell back dead. In pulling on the gun the boy had released the spring, which was fixed to go off on the slightest disturbance. The bullet was discharged at such close range that it passed clear through the middle of his chest, causing instant death.

The unfortunate lad's companions hastened to Fish Springs and reported the mishap. The body was removed to the home of the parents at once. Nobody in the vicinity of Fish Springs will admit having seen the deadly trap, and who the owner of the gun is, is a mystery. The manner in which it was placed shows conclusively that it was set for wild beasts and bear, coyotes, mountain lions and wild cats are not scarce in the region. Still, the careless author of the tragedy is subject to prosecution, and thus far he has not been discovered.

JUDGMENT FOR MABBE.

Superior Judge Bledsoe today handed down an opinion in the case of J. W. Mabbe et al. vs. Lyman Stewart, awarding damages to the plaintiff in the sum of $2575. The case was the third trial of the suit for damages, and means the ending of litigation extended over the past six years. It is really a test case, and involves the rights of scores of fruit growers who are purchasers of water for irrigation. Mabbe owns a ranch near Ontario, and his suit was for damages inflicted on his trees and unpicked fruit through the action of the defendant in turning his water on.

The case was first tried by a jury, which rendered judgment for a considerable amount in favor of the plaintiff. On this verdict, Stewart appealed to the State Supreme Court, which body reversed the order and remanded the case for a new trial. The second trial today is on its second hearing in the Superior Court.

SHOCKING TRAGEDY IN THE WILDS NEAR FISH SPRINGS.

A youthful degenerate named Paine, who has given the police all kinds of trouble, and who is now out on bail pending trial in the Superior Court on a battery charge, has worked the local yellow papers to a finish. He concocted a sensational yarn about a diamond stolen from him by a woman named Paine, who was supposed to be the owner of $1000 worth of diamonds, which Paine is alleged to have deposited at the Springs yesterday afternoon. The diamonds, whatever value they may possess, are supposed to be in the present keeping of Miss Paine, and the incident is probably ended, barring the yellow papers.

SANTA BARBARA EXCURSIONISTS HAVE ROUGH DESCENT.

Party Led Off the Trail and Subjected to Many Hardships—Young Man's Narrow Escape—Anxiety for Dancing Master's Return.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.

SANTA BARBARA, Sept. 10.—A number of those who went on the Chamber of Commerce excursion over the new mountain trail to La Cumbre yesterday had a very trying experience. The trail was formally opened yesterday and many local residents and invited from abroad took occasion to make the trip to the top of the highest peak in the Santa Ynez range, nearly a mile above sea level.

When the summit was reached, special dedication exercises were held, after which the members of the party started on their homeward trip. All made the trip to La Cumbre in the middle. In returning to this city, a number of the party, headed by someone who had been invited, took a circuitous route over a private trail and when they were about half way down the mountain, came to grief. In many places it was found necessary to abandon the horses and walk down the trail on foot. Even the latter method of making the descent was found extremely hazardous as, in places, the trail was found to have been absolutely nonexistent. In some places, the trail was found to have been nonexistent. In some places, the trail was found to have been nonexistent.

Deceased Was Member of Pioneer Spanish Family and Defeated Candidate for Congress from This District Two Years Ago—State Holiday Celebrated at Cambria.

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Sept. 10.—William C. Graves, the well-known Democratic politician and prominent attorney, died at his home here yesterday, aged 67 years. The end came peacefully after many months of suffering from acute kidney trouble and was not unexpected. A week ago he took a decided turn for the worse, and since last Sunday he had hovered at death's door.

Mr. Graves has been active in the councils of his party for many years. In 1900 he was the candidate of the Democrats of the Sixth District for Congress, but even then was prevented from making an active campaign and was defeated by James McLaughlin. In 1904 he was a member of the Arizona Territorial Legislature. The body was removed to the home of the parents at once. Nobody in the vicinity of Fish Springs will admit having seen the deadly trap, and who the owner of the gun is, is a mystery. The manner in which it was placed shows conclusively that it was set for wild beasts and bear, coyotes, mountain lions and wild cats are not scarce in the region. Still, the careless author of the tragedy is subject to prosecution, and thus far he has not been discovered.

JUDGMENT FOR MABBE.

Superior Judge Bledsoe today handed down an opinion in the case of J. W. Mabbe et al. vs. Lyman Stewart, awarding damages to the plaintiff in the sum of $2575. The case was the third trial of the suit for damages, and means the ending of litigation extended over the past six years. It is really a test case, and involves the rights of scores of fruit growers who are purchasers of water for irrigation. Mabbe owns a ranch near Ontario, and his suit was for damages inflicted on his trees and unpicked fruit through the action of the defendant in turning his water on.

The case was first tried by a jury, which rendered judgment for a considerable amount in favor of the plaintiff. On this verdict, Stewart appealed to the State Supreme Court, which body reversed the order and remanded the case for a new trial. The second trial today is on its second hearing in the Superior Court.

BOULEVARD BRIDGE WILL BE BUILT.

Called Meeting Under Auspices of Board of Trade—American Club Adds to Its Picture Gallery—Pub. Schools Open on Twenty-second.

PARADISE, Office of the Times, No. 11—

South Raymond avenue, Sept. 11.—Much-talked-of bridge across the river at the foot of Madison street, connecting with the Los Angeles-Pasadena Boulevard, is going to be built, all, unless the signs fall. Public-spirited citizens have induced the Board of Trade to call a meeting today evening at 7:30 in the board room to discuss the matter. If the board doesn't fall out of the boom, committees will be appointed to look after taking of subscriptions for the building of the bridge, and other details.

Among the speakers who are to be at the meeting are many of the prominent Los Angeles boulevard workers. They include Judge M. T. Alameda, George W. Wilson, J. A. Donnell, H. Holmberg, Washburn, et al. The Board of Trade will call a meeting today evening at 7:30 in the board room to discuss the matter. The Colton baseball team yesterday defeated the San Bernardino club in a handicap game at Colton, the score being 6 to 1. This makes it three games straight for the Colton boys, who thereby win a purse of $50.

Agay, the crowd, for the first time had set for rabbits or ground squirrels. The day was spent joyously, and on the homeward trip late in the afternoon the killing occurred. Little Alonso spied the muzzle of a gun protruding from the bushes near his path, and ran toward it to investigate. He seized it by the barrel in spite of the warnings shouted by his companions and tried to pull it out of the brush. Immediately there was a loud report, and the little fellow fell back dead. In pulling on the gun the boy had released the spring, which was fixed to go off on the slightest disturbance. The bullet was discharged at such close range that it passed clear through the middle of his chest, causing instant death.

MUCH MONEY INVOLVED IN SANTA ANA MYSTERY.

RELATIVES OF GEORGE SPROAT SEEKING HIS WEALTH.

Treasure Thought to Have Gone Down to the Sea With His Missing Corpse or Have Been Hidden by Him Around Bolsa-Cunningham-Weber Nuptials.

SANTA ANA, Sept. 10.—It is now claimed that George Sproat, who was drowned below Arch Beach, July 15, had a large sum of money on his person when he left his home at Topeka, Kan., only a few months ago, and his relatives are now seeking to obtain some information as to what became of the money.

Sproat was almost 70 years of age. In company with Postmaster L. W. Head of Bolsa, he went on a fishing trip to the beach. While the two men were down among the jagged rocks below Arch Beach, a very large breaker took the old man off his feet and washed him out to sea. The same breaker struck Head, but he clung to the rocks and finally reached the beach, considerably bruised.

Search has been repeatedly made for Sproat's body, but it has not been found, the belief prevailing that the current was such that the body was carried far out to sea. Sproat's relatives in the East were advised of the accident, and in answer the information was obtained that the old man left home with a large amount of money on his person.

This claim comes as a great surprise to those people in the vicinity of Bolsa who knew anything of the dead man's habits. They aver that he never showed any sign of having more than a few hundred dollars, and that he never indicated by his talk that he was worth any considerable amount of money. Three theories are ad-

The first is that Sproat and his money parted company before he reached California, second, that he carried it and

FIERCE HAMMERHEAD SHARK AT CATALINA.

"YELLOWTAIL JOHNNIE" HAS THE FIGHT OF HIS LIFE.

Ten-foot Monster Beached After Desperate Struggle—"Gol Durned" Restaurant Outfit Sold by Constable—Island Notes and Personal.

AVALON, Sept. 10.—"Yellowtail Johnnie" has again succeeded in covering himself all over with glory. About a month since he brought in the largest yellowtail seen here in the last half-dozen years, weighing 454 pounds. Yesterday he tackled larger game. While fishing for yellowtail he had been bothered with shark, so he went out prepared to "play a round or two" with his enemy. He wasn't looking for a whale, but he really thought he had one when something struck his hook. He used a hand line, and the way it was yanked through the water was something fierce. Johnny proceeded to get very busy. He was a lot of "heavy talking" in the neighborhood of Peppy Beach while the fight was going on. The shark is not a game fish, but the "hammerhead" shark is an exception, and he fights like a demon. Johnny had annexed one of these fighting hammerheads, and it was doing things to Johnny. After fighting it half an hour, with his hands all burnt, blistered and skinned, he felt that the fellow who had caught a bear by the tail, but he hated to let go. There happened to be another boat near, in which were two men, and he called to them for help. With their assistance he got the animal up to the boat, but his troubles seemed only to have begun, for with every flop of his enormous tail it seemed as though the boat would be swamped or smashed into kindling wood. His only alternative was to row him ashore and beach him, which was finally accomplished. The shark is ten feet long, and weighs 220 pounds. The cross piece across his snout, at the extremities of which are his eyes, is nearly thirty inches, and he is truly a formidable enemy to engage in a scrap.

There isn't any notion as to why we must empty our basement of all shoes within the next three days for it is an absolute certainty that the carpenters must go to work on the alterations Monday. We can not find room for the stock up stairs and must make special efforts to dispose of thousands of pairs this week, so for the next three days shoe prices will be so ridiculously out as to offer no excuse to any who have desire to save money on footwear.
